PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

THE BOMBAY EDUCATION SOCIETY was instituted in 1815 by the exertions of the Venerable Archdeacon Barnes, the first Archdeacon of Bombay. It has for its principal object the training up of the children of Europeans in the principles of Christianity, and teaching them such knowledge and habits of industry as may render them useful members of the Community. Soon after its institution it became united with an old School, latterly maintained by Government, and in 1818 the Honorable Court of Directors extended their patronage to this new Institution; but the Society chiefly depends for its support on the voluntary contributions of individuals.

Within the Island of Bombay the Society maintains two Schools—one for Boys and the other for Girls, as well as an Infant School at Poona—in which, at the close of last year, 526 children (of whom half are orphans of Soldiers, or persons connected with the Army,) were receiving their education: the largest portion of these are boarded, clothed, and fed at the expense of the Institution.

Into these Schools the Society has also engaged to receive the children of Soldiers* contributing to the Institution according to a fixed scale, on their death or removal to Europe.

To enable the Society to carry on these benevolent purposes, the contributions of the Public are earnestly solicited.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

OF THE

BOMBAY EDUCATION SOCIETY.

Assembled in the Girls' School at Byculla, at 5 P.M. on Thursday, the 30*th March* 1865.

HIS EXCELENCY SIR BARTLE E. FRERE, K.C.B., IN THE CHAIR.

THE Report of the Managing Committee for the past year having been read by the Officiating Secretary, the following Resolutions were adopted by the Meeting:—

Proposed by The Honorable W. E. FRERE,

Seconded by GEORGE FOGGO, Esq.,

and carried unanimously—

"That the Report now read be adopted and printed, under the direction of the Managing Committee, for the use of the Subscribers; that 20 copies of the Report be transmitted to His Excellency the Honorable the Governor in Council, with a request that 10 may be sent to the Secretary of State for India, and 10 to the Council for India; and 20 copies of the Report be transmitted to the National Society in London, and 5 to the Military Asylums of Calcutta, Madras, and Colombo."

The Secretary reported that the following Gentlemen were out of the Committee by rotation, viz:—

Sir A. Grant, Bart.	Spencer Compton, Esq.
J. F. Hore, Esq.	The Hon. A. D. Robertson.
J. P. Bickersteth, Esq.	Col. J. B. Dunsterville.

Proposed by Dr. R. Haines,
Seconded by the Rev. Mr. Spring,
and carried unanimously—

That instead of the first clause of Rule 9 the following be substituted:—

"Twelve Directors are elected from the Subscribers at large, who serve two years; of these six retire annually at the General Meeting, but are eligible for re-election. The election is made by means of printed voting lists, which are to be circulated to each qualified subscriber in the Presidency of Bombay at least three weeks before the Annual Meeting, and the votes shall be scrutinized, and the result declared at such Annual Meeting."

Proposed by Colonel J. B. Dunsterville,
Seconded by the Rev. Mr. Reynell,
and carried unanimously—

"That the thanks of the Society be given to His Excellency the Honorable the President and the Right Reverend the Patron and Visitor, and to all persons who have gratuitously furthered the objects of the Society."

Addresses were then made by His Excellency and the Lord Bishop. The children sang some pieces of Poetry, and Medals and Rewards were distributed to the Boys by His Excellency, and to the Girls by Lady Frere. The National Anthem was then sung, and the Benediction pronounced by the Bishop.

REPORT

FOR

THE YEAR 1864.

The average number of children maintained and educated as Boarders in the Schools at Byculla and Poona during the year 1864 was 436, viz. 250 Boys and 186 Girls; of these 240 was the average number belonging to the Military Asylum.

Forty children were entirely supported by the Society. The friends of 11 children paid the full amount that was required for their support, viz. 15 Rupees each per mensem; and for the rest, sums varying from Rs. 1 to Rs. 10 each were contributed by their friends.

The expenses of schools during the year have amounted to Rs. 93,532. (This includes the expenses of the school at Poona, which were Rs. 21,139.) The cost therefore of the maintenance and education of each child was at the rate of Rs. 17-14-0 per mensem.

The expenditure during the past year exceeded that of 1863 by no less sum than Rs. 13,400, although the number of children maintained was 90 less. This increase of expenses was occasioned chiefly by the dearness of food and of articles of clothing. These necessaries of life cost the Society Rs. 13,286 more than in 1863.

The total sum received during the year, from ordinary sources, amounted to Rs. 74,900. This includes the sum of Rs. 3,924 collected at Poona, and the balance in hand on 1st January, viz. Rs. 586. The expenditure therefore exceeded the income by Rs. 18,632.

To meet this deficiency, the Managing Committee were under the necessity of appropriating to the current expenses of the schools a portion of the purchase money due by Government for land lately sold to them by the Society, and accordingly requested payment of an instalment of Rs. 30,000. This was paid. Thus the Committee were enabled to meet all the expenses of the year; but it was deemed necessary to lay before Government the utter insufficiency of the allowance of Rs. 5 per mensem received from Government for children belonging to the Military Asylum, and to urge the necessity of an increase thereto. The claim on account of these children was at once recognized, and measures are being taken with the view of obtaining an addition to the present allowance.

The Managing Committee announce with regret a large falling off in voluntary subscriptions and donations compared with 1863. The decrease on this account alone has been Rs. 2,535, the payments from the friends of the children have also decreased by

Rs. 1,081. On the other hand there has been an increase of income from the Printing Press of Rs. 3,551.

Boys' School, Byculla.

At the end of last year there were 196 Boarders and 26 Day Scholars. Thirty-eight were admitted during the year; 34 were discharged, of whom 26 were taken out by their friends; 5 were apprenticed; 2 joined the P. O. Company's service, and one was admitted into the Government Medical Department.

The Rev. Mr. Farnham, the Head Master, in a letter dated March 2nd, 1865, (which will be found in the Appendix) writes: "During the past year I have great satisfaction in being able to report that several of the Boys have left the school to go to more lucrative employment than was formerly attainable by them; and I have had very satisfactory reports from those under whom they are employed, as to their conduct and attention to their duties.

"It is a gratifying fact that the whole of the subordinate staff of Teachers in the Boys' School were educated and trained in the school, and I have much pleasure in speaking of the manner in which they have performed their duties. Mr. Thomas, the Second Master, is a very valuable assistant, and I cannot speak too highly of his diligent and steady application to his work. Messrs. Glaskin and Hildreth also have discharged their duties with great care and assiduity.

"At the commencement of the last school year, Mr. Lewellen, whose time as a Pupil Teacher had just expired, was appointed an additional Assistant Master, and promised to be very useful. I regret, however, to have to record his death soon after his appointment from an accident with a gun. His place has not been supplied. Mrs. Ferro, the Matron, continues to give every satisfaction.

"The school has suffered in its discipline, from the fact that there have been several changes in the appointment of Shed Master, and that we have not had that post filled by efficient men. The post is now vacant, and I would desire to point out the great importance of having it filled by an active man, who will be able to control the Boys, and to keep them in good order, without unduly interfering with their amusements when they are not in the school-room."

Girls' School, Byculla.

At the close of last year there were 144 Boarders and 9 Day Scholars; 18 were admitted during the year and 26 discharged, of whom 22 were taken out by their friends, 1 was married, and 3 were appointed Pupil Teachers to the school at Poona.

Miss Gower, the Lady Superintendent, reports that there is a decided improvement amongst the girls, both in application and kindness towards each other. The Committee announce with regret the death, on the 14th July, after a few days illness, of Miss Allinson, the 2nd Mistress, only six months after her arrival in the country.

The new Housekeeper and Matron, Mrs. Montague, arrived on the 9th of November, and gives great promise of being a valuable assistant. The 3rd Mistress, Miss Mews, continues to discharge her duties with her accustomed zeal and efficiency.

In the month of May all the children were sent for change of air to Butchers Island, a Barrack having been kindly placed at the disposal of the Committee by His Excellency the Governor, and during the Christmas holidays they were taken to the Deccan, the late Government House at Dapooree having been kindly lent for their accommodation by Doctor Diver and George Taylor, Esq. Sir Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy, Bart., with his usual generosity, sent a thousand Rupees towards the expenses of the journey, and the G. I. P. Railway Company liberally conveyed the children and their luggage at half the usual rates. The health of the children has greatly benefitted by these changes, and a greater degree of life and energy has been observed amongst them.

The health of the children in the schools at Byculla has been on the whole good, as will be seen from the interesting report (appended) of the Medical Officer in charge—Dr. Haines. Dr. Haines remarks, " the number of boys at present in the school is too large for the sleeping accommodation, and for sanitary reasons it is very desirable that the number should be reduced. Of the girls no death occurred, but five boys have died, all of pure European parentage ; of these deaths three only were due to climatic disease. One death was purely accidental, some careless or evil disposed person had thrown over the wall of the Boys' play-ground from the public road, a paper packet containing a number of lumps of white arsenic of various sizes, which the Boys finding, with the curiosity belonging to their age, tasted and even ate, some more, some less; the consequence was, that not less than sixteen boys, and also a little girl, daughter of one of the Masters, were all affected with symptoms of arsenical poisoning of various degrees of severity. Most fortunately all recovered, with one exception—Henry Fletcher, a promising boy of 11 years, who appears to have eaten the most.

Poona Infant School.

The Reverend G. L. Fenton writes on the 25th February 1865:—

"The past year was marked by a fearful visitation of sickness in the hot season, which few of our infants altogether escaped, and which proved fatal to no less than fifteen. There can be no doubt that these distressing results were mainly attributable to the want of sufficient ventilation in our overcrowded sleeping rooms.

"I trust that I shall not be considered as intruding upon the province of the Medical officer, if I take the opportunity of bearing my testimony (the result of eighteen years' experience) to the climate of Poona, as (to use the language of Surgeon Major Larkins) well adapted for young children from birth to eight years old. Not therefore to the climate in any considerable measure, but mainly to the want of air and room would I attribute the sad mortality of the past year, and with increased earnestness of appeal, would I urge the Managing Committee at once to commence the building of a suitable School and Hospital on the airy and roomy site long since placed at their disposal.

"In consequence of this terrible outbreak of sickness, the Day School was necessarily discontinued for several months. It has since been resumed.

"The entire establishment is now at Dapoorie, the owners of this fine estate having very kindly permitted us to occupy rooms in it for two or three weeks. The children are all well and happy, and I only wish it were possible for them to remain where they are until the end of May; with plenty of room and out-door exercise they would need no further change.

"It fell to me to conduct the Religious examination of the school in the month of December, upon which, as I have embodied the result in a brief report to the Bishop, I need say no more here than that it gave me unmingled satisfaction.

"No change has taken place during the year in the Teachers or Matrons of the school, who have, one and all, continued to discharge their several duties well and faithfully."

The Managing Committee are unwilling to close this Report without recurring to a statement which it contains, and which might be thought to indicate some diminution of interest on the part of the community in these long established institutions. They refer to the falling off in voluntary contributions. If there had been no obvious cause for this, a very unfavourable inference might be drawn from the circumstance. But no one in this Presidency can fail to be painfully aware of the situation in which a large proportion of the friends of these schools have found themselves of late, and of the inability under which they labour to give to such objects as they had been used to do. That the worth of the schools has not declined is best attested by the number of applications for admission, which are continually coming before the Committee, and to which unfortunately they are unable to reply as they desire. Month by month the list of children for whom admission is solicited goes on increasing, affording thereby the best of proofs that the classes for whose good the Education Society consults are well persuaded that its benefits are as great as ever. And those who from their personal acquaintance with both the schools in Bombay, and with the Infant Branch at Poona, are best qualified to speak, encourage your Committee in the assurance that the state of these institutions is at the present time most satisfactory. They cannot therefore attribute the diminution of voluntary support to any defect in the schools, or merited forfeiture of public favour; they are conscious that this is not the case; and they are confident therefore in the appeal which they now make for new subscriptions to those whose names do not yet appear on their lists, but of whose best wishes on behalf of the young and the poor they cannot allow themselves to doubt.

Retirement of the Rev. J. D. Gibson, late Secretary of the Society.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Managing Committee, held 9th January 1865.—Read a letter from the Rev. J. D. Gibson, resigning the office of Honorary Secretary of the Society, as he proceeds to Europe on the 29th instant.

Resolved.—That the best thanks of the Society are due to the Rev. J. D. Gibson for the able and zealous manner in which he performed the duties of Secretary during the last 15 years; and that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to Mr. Gibson.

SCHOOL REPORT.

To the Rev. F. J. Spring,
Secretary, Bombay Education Society.

Rev. and dear Sir,

Having now been in charge of the Byculla School for rather more than the period of five years, for which I was at first engaged, and being about in a very short time to resign my charge, I am anxious, in writing this report, to take a short retrospect of my work during the time I have been here.

I took charge of the school at the close of the year 1859. There were at that time on the school books 127 boys. The school has since then gradually increased to 200, and many more would gladly come were there room.

As I stated in my report five years ago, I found the boys in a most depressed state—mentally and physically—there seemed to be a dead weight pressing them down; either to play or to learn seemed to require an amount of exertion of which they appeared incapable. The moral aspect of the school was, if possible, still more discouraging, lying, deceit, and low cunning seemed to be prevalent to a frightful extent, and that frank, manly feeling of honour, which is so pleasing a characteristic of the English school-boy, seemed almost entirely absent.

Much of the apathy was doubtless to be attributed to the climate, while the low moral tone was the effect of the worst kind of early training, many of these children having been in their early days left almost entirely under the influence of natives.

These were discouraging circumstances ; but I felt that their effect on me should only be to call forth greater exertion. My first efforts were directed to the means of infusing more life and activity into the boys, and this I endeavoured to do by means of their amusements in the play ground. By making their amusements interesting, by degrees they were induced to greater activity; and I think few play-grounds even in England are scenes of greater life and enjoyment than ours is now. One means which has greatly contributed to this end has been the formation of a small band of instrumental performers, which has been a source of great pleasure not alone to the boys who formed the band, but to the whole school.

I soon found the increased interest that had been excited in the play ground, extended itself to the school-room. Of the improvement that has been made by the boys in their attainments I must leave others to speak ; but I feel sure, that whatever it has been, it is to be in a great measure attributed to the means adopted in the play ground. The school would now contrast favourably with most schools of the same kind in England, although still below the standard of the best Town National Schools.

I am sorry to be unable to speak with the same satisfaction of the moral state of the school. There has been some improvement. Many of the boys would now shrink from telling a lie, or from any attempt to deceive ; and I think the public opinion of the boys, which formerly seemed to be invariably on the side of the clever trickster, is now on the side of truth and right; and I trust in time a healthy honest tone may pervade the whole school.

During the past year I have great satisfaction in being able to report that several of the boys have left the school to go to more lucrative employment than was formerly attainable by them, and I have had very satisfactory reports from those under whom they are employed, as to their conduct and attention to their duties.

It is a gratifying fact that the whole of the subordinate staff of teachers in the Boys' School were educated and trained in the school; and I have much pleasure in speaking of the manner in which they have performed their duties. Mr. Thomas, the Second Master, is a very valuable assistant, and I cannot speak too highly of his diligent and steady application to his work. Messrs. Glaskin and Hildreth also have discharged their duties with great care and assiduity.

At the commencement of the last school year, Mr. Lewellin, whose time as a pupil teacher had just expired, was appointed an additional Assistant Master, and promised to be very useful; I regret, however, to have to record his death soon after his appointment, from an accident with a gun. His place has not been supplied. Mrs. Ferro, the Matron, continues to give every satisfaction.

The school has suffered in its discipline, from the fact that there have been several changes in the appointment of Shed Master, and that we have not had that post filled by efficient men. The post is now vacant, and I would desire to point out the great importance of having it filled by an active man, who will be able to control the boys and to keep them in good order, without unduly interfering with their amusements when they are not in the school-room.

I have the honour to be,
Rev. and Dear Sir,
Your obedient Servant,

J. J. FARNHAM,
Head Master.

ANNUAL MEDICAL REPORT OF THE BOMBAY CENTRAL SCOHOLS, FOR THE YEAR 1864.

There remained in the Schools at the beginning of the year 202 boys and 139 girls, total 341 ; during the year 53 boys and 33 girls were admitted, either for the first time or from Poona; and 39 boys and 28 girls were discharged. At the end of the year there were in the school 211 boys and 144 girls, total 355. The average strength during the year has been 203 boys and 137 girls, total 340, against 328 last year. The number of boys at present in the school is too large for the sleeping accommodation, and for sanitary reasons it is very desirable that the number should be reduced. This has already been pointed out in a report which I drew up for the Managing Committee.

Owing to the adoption this year of the English Registrar General's system of nosological classification, the sick list of the year does not readily admit of comparison with those of former years, except in the gross results. The admissions into Hospital have been 885, viz. 525 boys and 360 girls. This is a little more than last year, but less than the year before. Diseases of the skin are still the most numerous class, being 451; only 7 less than last year. dysentery and diarrhœa has been less frequent. Fevers have largely increased. The fever has been most commonly ephemeral, but sometimes intermittent ; no cases have assumed a typhoid type. No eruptive fevers have been treated, with the exception of chicken-pox, nor has any case of cholera occurred. Hooping cough found entrance into both schools at the beginning of the year, 10 boys and 9 girls having been admitted in the months of January, February, and March; the cases were for the most part mild, and none were attended with any pulmonary inflammation.

Of the girls no death occurred, but 5 boys have died, all of pure European parentage. Of these deaths 3 only were due to climatic disease. One boy died from acute dysentery, another worn out by exhausting diarrhœa; and a third from intussusception of the bowels, following upon a mild attack of dysentery. The fourth death was that of a little boy aged 4 years, who was sent down from the Infant School at Poona in a hopeless state with tabes mesenterica or abdominal consumption. The fifth death was purely accidental. Some careless or evil disposed person had thrown over the wall of the boys' play ground, from the public road, a paper packet containing a number of lumps of white arsenic of various sizes, which the boys finding, with the curiosity belonging to their age, tasted and even ate, some more, some less; the consequence was that not less than 16 boys and also a little girl, daughter of one of the masters, were all affected with symptoms of arsenical poisoning of various degrees of severity. Most fortunately all recovered, with one exception, Henry Fletcher, a promising boy of 11 years, who appeared to have eaten the most. Another accidental death occurred in the schools, which is not entered in the returns, viz: of one of the pupil teachers, who accidentally shot himself in the arm with a gun loaded with small shot. The soft parts were much contused and lacerated, but the bones and blood vessels had all escaped injury, and there was every hope of his doing well, when tetanus appeared on the fourth day after the accident, and speedily proved fatal.

ANNUAL MEDICAL REPORT OF THE INFANT BRANCH BYCULLA SCHOOL, POONA, FROM 1ST JULY TO 31ST OCTOBER 1864.

I received charge of the School on my arrival in Poona a few days before the close of last year. The actual sickness among the children was trifling, amounting to no more than 4 per cent. Still as a body they did not appear healthy, many of them having that anæmic pasty look, which indicates a low state of vitality predisposing to disease.

As there has been an unusual amount of sickness in the school during the first half of the year, attended with, I grieve to say, a high rate of mortality, and which I believe might have been prevented to a great extent under a different system, I must be permitted to enter a little into detail regarding what I conceive to be detrimental to the health of a body of children so circumstanced, and to suggest the measures best calculated to remedy this.

First, however, let me notice the sickness. Towards the end of January, small-pox being prevalent in the city, 2 cases appeared in the school. One of these was of a malignant character, and rapidly proved fatal. Immediate measures were taken to separate the healthy children from those affected. The temporary hospital was made available for this purpose. Attention to cleanliness and ventilation, and vaccinating the entire number in the school, had the desired effect of arresting the disease. Five children only were affected, all of whom recovered. The alarm occasioned from this had scarcely subsided, when hooping cough broke out, the first case showing itself on 23rd March. This gradually extended, and was followed by measles, upon which I considered it advisable that the healthy children should be removed altogether to some other locality. The Assembly Rooms were engaged for the purpose, and the children at once taken there, the school itself being retained as the hospital. Altogether 46 cases of hooping cough and 51 of measles have been treated. This does not mean that a total of 97 children were admitted with these complaints. It would have been better had it been so; but in fifteen instances the measles attacked those who were already suffering from hooping cough, and in eight other cases the latter disease made its appearance while the measles were in progress. As was to be expected in children already debilitated by one disease, the supervention of another was certain to be attended with serious complications. Bronchitis with collapse of the lungs, pneumonia, convulsions, and diarrhœa were those most frequently met with. Even with strong robust children to work upon, the chances of recovery under such circumstances would have been doubtful, but in the case of sickly anæmic children like these, notwithstanding the most devoted care and attention bestowed upon them by the Lady Superintendent and Matron, the termination of their illness was easily predicted: 14 deaths, including 2 cut off by cholera when recovering from measles, testify to the hopelessness of their condition.

As I am inclined to attribute much of the sickness and subsequent mortality to the over-crowding of the children, to defective ventilation, and other sanitary errors, it will not perhaps appear surprising my stating that if these or other epidemic diseases were to visit the school next year, and existing circumstances remain unchanged, we should have as a necessary result of cause and effect, probably to lament over another similar death-roll.

There is probably nothing in nature so indispensably necessary to the growth and healthy development of the human frame as an abundance of fresh air; and although all else may be supplied as regards food, lodging, clothing, cleanliness, attendance, and such like, yet if the atmosphere in which human beings are destined to pass the greatest portion of their existence is deficient in oxygen, or loaded with carbonic acid gas and poisonous aminal matter exhaled from the skin and lungs during respiration, all will be of no avail; an unhealthy cachectic condition of the system will infallibly result, and such individuals will be among the very first to be carried off on the appearance of an epidemic or other disease of a contagious nature.

From considerations such as these, and others arising out of the subject, Government, in the year 1853, decided that 1,800 cubic feet of air was the proportion necessary for each adult in Hospital, and 1,200 the minimum in Barracks. Now let us apply this standard to the case of the children in the Infant Branch Byculla School. The sleeping accommodation with the space in cubic feet allotted to these are as follows:—

Room A.....	18 × 34 × 17 =	10,404
Do. B.....	14 × 18 × 17 =	4,281
Stable C.....	18 × 59 × 12 =	12,744
Do. D.....	18 × 12 × 12 =	2,592
Hospital E.....	23 × 16 × 24 =	8,832
Total cubic feet....		38,853

This 38,853 divided by 1,200 gives space sufficient for 32·3 adults. But in calculating how many children of 7 years of age (the average age of the children in the school) this represents, it will be necessary in the first place to make a deduction for the amount of air vitiated by generally from 2 to 3 ahmahs, say 2, who sleep with the children, and for the oxygen consumed by 3 oil lamps. These latter are considered to require as much as one adult each; so that we must subtract $2 \times 3 = 6$ from the previous number 32·3, leaving space only for 26·3 adults. It would delay us too long to go into details and to adduce the opinions of those best acquainted with the methods of fixing the relative number of children at various ages which equal one adult; but for all practical purposes we are sufficiently near the mark when we estimate one adult as equal to 2 children of seven years old. Doubling therefore the number of adults 26·3, we see that the total of children who can be accommodated in the present building allotted for the Infant Branch Byculla School, with a due regard to their health, amounts to 52·6; and that every additional one over this sum occasions proportional deterioration of health of the occupants of the room in which they sleep.

From a consideration of the above, it is not difficult to conceive that where 103 children—the number at the time of the late outbreak—with the addition of 2 ahmahs and 3 lights, are made to pass night after night in a space only sufficient for 52·6, and no provision adopted for the renewal of the air beyond what can be obtained through a few open widows and half closed doors, their health should become deteriorated; and that to such an extent, as to render them not merely susceptible in a high degree to any prevailing contagion, but likewise to lessen greatly their chances for recovering when attacked by any serious malady. Surely, then, no further arguments are needed for at least providing sufficient space and proper ventilation for the children and attendants.

But this late severe sickness in the Infant School has caused me seriously to consider the question as to whether Poona is so desirable a place, as some seem to think it is, for the permanent location of a number of young children, First let it be borne in mind that the children I am speaking of are of tender years, for the most part orphans, have been more or less previously neglected, and many of them inheriting feeble, delicate constitutions. It is evident that such require greater advantages as regards climate, fresh air, nourishing food, proper clothing, and all else pertaining to the well established laws of sanitation and hygiene, than do other children more favourably placed in the matter of birth and sound constitution.

Although, perhaps, something might be said with reference to the food and clothing, especially the latter, which in my opinion is not merely scanty, but greatly deficient in flannel and other similar fabrics, yet to avoid being tedious, I will confine myself to a few remarks on the first point —climate. From the middle of November to middle of February east and north-east winds prevail. These, being dry, are very trying to delicate children, especially if not warmly clad; and if ventilation is to be maintained at all, windows cannot be entirely closed at night; and hence diseases of the lungs are not uncommon. During this period therefore the children would be better away, and the sea coast, or better still, for reasons I shall presently mention, one of the hill stations in the vicinity would be very desirable. Again, the dry hot winds of March, April, and May, to which, owing to the absence of tatties, and the necessity of open doors, the children are fully exposed, added to the impossibility of keeping them from running about in the morning and evening sun, often with nothing on their heads, affects most seriously their health, debilitates their system, and renders them less able to resist the tendency to fever and bowel complaints, which in this place are generally seen to prevail during the first six weeks of the monsoon. The obvious remedy for this is to remove the children to some other locality where such baneful influences do not exist, and where circumstances the most favorable present themselves for establishing and maintaining their health. Such we have in the various hill stations around, and none more so than at Poorundhur. And the best argument I can adduce of the immense advantages these possess, is in the rapid improvement which takes place in the health of such children as are fortunate enough to be sent there—these putting on in a wonderfully short time a healthy, robust, and even ruddy appearance.

Poorundhur, for various reasons, is about the best which for the present could be selected. It is of easy access from Poona, enjoys the advantages of a delightful climate; sufficient space, good water, a medical officer, and a bazar, and as the rainfall is moderate (53·57 being the average of six years from 1855 to 1860) and the variation of the thermometer throughout the year small,—thus guarding the system from those sudden changes of temperature from heat to cold and vice versâ, which have perhaps more to do with the accession of disease than the mere amount of temperature per se—it has yet to be shown why Poorundhur, rather than Poona, should not be selected as the permanent location for the Infant Branch of the Byculla School.

An objection may be taken that fogs are very prevalent during the monsoon, that the damp is excessive, and the climate gloomy and depressing. But the fogs have been proved to be no way unhealthy. They are not heavy clouds of stagnant vapour, but are ever carried on and set in motion by the prevailing westerly breezes; and seldom do more than two or three days pass without occasional glimpses of sunshine. The rain also is only heavy during one or at most two months of the year, July and August, the average of 9 years showing 20 inches for the former and 10 for the latter. No doubt these two months are from these causes the most disagreeable in the whole year, but were it deemed necessary, a portion of the children could be removed either to Poona, Kirkee, or Ahmednuggur, as might be found most convenient. With the exception therefore of these two months—July and August—during which I readily admit that Poona in point of climate, is not only more agreeable but also more healthy—the whole of the remainder of the year passed at Poorundhur, holds out infinitely greater advantages to growing children free from organic disease, than does Poona, or any other spot in the plains that I am acquainted with.

My recommendation to move the school may in some quarters be received with little favour; or, if it should be approved of, a considerable time doubtless must elapse before any decisive step is taken in the matter. But whatever determination may ultimately be arrived at, the children will derive no benefit thereby in the meantime, and I would therefore beg leave here to enter my decided protest against continuing them as they are. I would urgently press upon those interested in their welfare at once to put a stop to the present system of over-crowding, i. e. having from 80 to 100 children in the space sufficient only for 52; and further, now that the monsoon is over, to take seriously into consideration the proposal for removing the school altogether, not merely to quarters more suited to the requirements of the children, but to a more bracing climate, and to insure the latter, the hill climate of Poorundhur appears at present the most suitable of any. Under any circumstances the children ought not to be kept here in the hot season. The middle of February should see them all on the hill, where neither measles, hooping cough, nor other epidemic diseases peculiar to children exist.

Had this plan been adopted during the past season, this sad outbreak would, humanly speaking, never have occurred, and in place of our having to deplore the death of 14 children from these complaints, we might now be gladdened by the fresh and healthy appearance of the entire number as they stood at the commencement of the year.

A few remarks will suffice to dispose of the remaining cases of sickness occurring among the children of the Infant School.

Although cholera was prevalent during the hot weather, it did not make its appearance in the school as a distinct disease. Two deaths have been mentioned in the earlier part of this Report as having been caused by this disease when the patients were slowly recovering from measles; but the state of exhaustion in which these two children were in when the characteristic symptoms showed themselves, was of itself sufficient to account for its development at a time when the materies morbi was in the neighbourhood. No other children were attacked.

One hundred and fifty admissions from other complaints were received during the ten months I was in charge. Forty-two of these were from intermittent fever, and the proportion of boys and girls affected were 16 of the former to 26 of the latter, showing here a greater proclivity in the female to the reception of malarious poison.

Diseases of the skin—of which scabies was the most common—come next in order as to frequency; 42 admissions being noted under this class of complaints.

Then ophthalmia, chiefly scrofulous and catarrhal, are next to be noticed; 24 cases having occurred.

A few cases of stomatitis and diarrhœa were witnessed. Small-pox occurred in five instances, during the hot season, and terminated fatally in one case. Vaccination of the entire number of children in whom the marks of small-pox were not evident, and strict attention to cleanliness, and separation, were followed by a complete cessation of the disease.

Towards the middle of October we had 12 cases of chicken-pox, which, with a few contusions, and one or two other trifling complaints, all terminating favourably, complete the medical history of the Infant Branch Byculla School at this station, during the portion of the year I held charge.

PRINTING OFFICE REPORT.

To the Secretary Bombay Education Society.

Sir,—I have the honour to report on the affairs of the Printing Office for the past year. The aggregate value of work, namely Rs. 3,30,378, shows a very large increase (Rs. 31,304) over last year. But in making this comparison of the work performed in the two years, it will be erroneous to conclude that the increase of money earnings shows an equivalent excess of work done; for as two lacs of work have been charged to private customers at the current ad valorem rates, which, being higher than in previous years, it follows that they swelled the gross proceeds probably to the extent shown above. But, on the other hand, a reverse cause has been decreasing the figures for Government work. In 1863 our bills on Government were for Rs. 1,37,976, this year for Rs. 1,35,421, showing an apparent decrease of Rs. 2,555 in the Government work; whereas, in fact we must have done about Rs. 6,500 worth more work, but have been paid less; the explanation being, that for about nine months we have been working under the new contract at rates 10 per cent. lower than in 1863. In my last year's Report I stated that, in the face of rising wages, the new Government contract could not be undertaken at reduced rates without risk. This risk would fall with additional force in the current year, had not Government, on appeal, made some concession,* especially as the great increase of wages has been chiefly in the last few months. But I am glad to state, from causes hereafter named, that as the aggregate of work in 1864 was increased by Rs. 31,000, so a due proportion of profit was realized in the same ratio as that of 1863. The extraordinary demand for Bank Account Books, and for Cheques, Share Certificates, &c., caused a great stimulus to the better paying branches, while the new companies willingly paid us remunerative rates, and they further largely increased the consumption of material, such as paper, &c., which, while sold at a profit, did not require any expenditure of labour other than the Superintendent's judgment in buying and selling it. For instance, the sales of material (such as paper, stationery, binding materials, &c.) are shown as rising from 68,000 to 86,000, or 26·5 per cent. more, giving its full ratio of profit without increasing the number of employés.

As regards the number of work-people employed, and the necessary increase of their wages, I had occasion to report to the Committee in October last, that 180 men had left our employment during the last 12 months for better paid work, many others have since left; it therefore will be understood how necessary it has been to advance the workmen's pay. In May 1864, when we had 702 men, the Pay List was Rs. 15,033. In last month, with 684 men,

* On representation to Government, it was conceded, that three special items—manifestly underpaid—which, like the other work, were at 25 per cent. lower than the prices paid in 1848, should revert to the rates of that year; and this concession will, to some extent, help to meet the rise of wages for part of the establishment carrying on Government printing.

the Pay List was Rs. 17,524, or an average increase per man of 19·4 per cent. It may be thought that the numbers have only very slightly decreased, but it must be remembered that nearly all who left us were trained men, many I may say were our best men, and that we could only recruit their number from raw inexperienced people unsuited and inefficient; the Managers have therefore been greatly taxed to produce the usual work with such workpeople. And, thus, while the demand for printing work has rapidly increased,—to wit, printing of all the Legislative Council work, the Budget Statements, the Cash Accounts of each Department, as well as the printing by us or by other printers for the many new Companies,—the workpeople necessary for all this have, I may safely say, decreased.

The consequence is, we are quite unable to cope with the work that daily offers to us. The Government have, I fear, had cause to complain of tardy printing; many of our oldest customers have had their Manuscripts returned, because I could not promise to print the work in any reasonable time. I believe, could we have found workrooms and workpeople, 1,000 instead of 700 might have been employed.

We remain in our present premises only on sufferance. Our landlord (Mr. Shapoorjee Dhunjeebhoy) gave us notice to quit by February last, but on appeal to him the time has been extended to September 30th next. The question of our future premises being one of pressing urgency, is now under consideration.

Our several Managers remain the same as last year, though for some months we have been able to retain Mr. Graham's services only as half-time worker for the Foundry; Mr. Abraham (our Lithographer) has been induced, on the expiry of his engagement, to continue his services on terms much more advantageous to himself; Mr. Green (our Book-binder Manager) has overcome the difficulties a new man finds in managing native workmen during his first year; Mr. Hancock and Mr. Kingsmill (on whom the brunt of working with inexperienced men has fallen) have worked conscientiously with me in their several work; and Mr. Banks (a most willing and effective servant), whose engagement had just terminated, continues in his duties. Personally I have had excellent assistance in the Account Branch from my Head Clerk, Mr. J. Lafrenais, who has been employed here nine years.

I remain, Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,

JOHN FIRTH,
Superintendent B. E. S. Press.

APPENDIX A.

TURNER SCHOLARSHIP.

THIS Scholarship was founded in the year 1847 by the brother officers of Captain THOMAS M. BLOIS TURNER, of the Bombay Corps of Engineers, who, in order to testify their regard for his memory, resolved that they could do so in no better way than by instituting some useful memorial of him in connection with the BOMBAY EDUCATION SOCIETY, in which he took a warm interest, and of which he was a most active and useful member.

The amount subscribed for the purpose was Rupees 2,740, and the following Regulations concerning it were adopted at the Annual Meeting in March 1849:—

"1. That the 'Turner Memorial Fund' be devoted to the maintaining a Scholar in the Bombay Education Society's Boys' School.

"2. That the election be made triennially at the Annual Meeting of Subscribers from Candidates who shall have passed an examination previously made on a day fixed by examiners appointed by the Directors.

"3. That no Candidate be eligible for this Scholarship, to be denominated the 'Turner Scholarship,' who is under fourteen years of age, or hold it more than three years from the date of his election.

"4. That this Scholarship be held subject to all the rules of the BOMBAY EDUCATION SOCIETY.

"5. That in the event of misconduct, the Directors have the power to declare the Scholarship forfeited, and proceed to a new election, such election being confirmed at the ensuing Annual Meeting.

"6. That the Turner Scholar be required to assist in all the duties and discipline of the School, in such manner as the Reverend the Master may direct.

"7. That he be required to pursue, under the immediate instruction of the Reverend the Master, such a course of study as shall be laid down by the Reverend the Master and the Chaplain, and be considered best calculated to develop his abilities and fit him for such higher branches of professional employment as may be open to him."

The Turner Scholarship for the present year is held by Peter Fernandez.

BARNES' SCHOLARSHIP.

THIS Scholarship has been founded by the friends of the late Venerable Archdeacon BARNES, who subscribed the sum of Rupees 6,000 on his departure from India to commemorate the distinguished part which he took in giving the Society its present extended form. The money is to be used for the endowment of a Pupil Teacher in both the Boys' and Girls' School, who are to be elected on the same principle, and subject to the same regulations, as the Turner Scholar.

The Barnes Scholarships for the present year are now held by James Thomas in Boys' School, and Catherine Welsh in the Girls' School.

NEWNHAM PRIZE.

THE Newnham Medal has this year been given, in the Boys' School, to G. Pearson, and in the Girls' School to Mary Hayward.

To secure correct adjustment of the Accounts of the Secretary to the BOMBAY EDUCATION SOCIETY, a detailed Statement of the names of the Subscribers, and the amount subscribed by each person during the month, to be forwarded to the Secretary of the Society so as to reach him by the 15th of each following month.

This statement should be prepared by the Paymaster of each Regiment, and forwarded to Paymasters for transmission in original to the Secretary, accompanied, with an abstract statement, to be framed in the Paymaster's Department, of the gross amount recovered from each Corps.

G. G. O. 8th March 1844. [No. 165 of 1844.]—In continuation of General Order No. 818 of 1840, the Honorable the Governor in Council has been pleased to approve of the following rates of subscription to the Military Asylum under the BOMBAY

EDUCATION SOCIETY, from the undermentioned Assistants in the Medical Department:—

Apothecaries and Stewards shall subscribe as Conductors; Assistant Apothecaries and Assistant Stewards as Sub-Conductors, commencing from the period of their receiving their warrant.

BENEFITS TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Provision, under the guarantee of Government, for the maintenance, education, and establishment in life of their Children on their decease or removal to Europe.

Admission to these benefits of the Asylum at a small monthly payment, during the parent's residency in India—an advantage of peculiar value to the Soldier on his being left a widower, or on the Corps to which he may belong being ordered on field service.

This small monthly payment will be found very trifling when compared with the sum each Child costs the Asylum monthly, and the comforts which are provided for them of clothing, diet, and medical aid.

The average monthly expenses to the Asylum for each Child is calculated at 15 Rupees.

Clothing is kept up at the following proportions:—

For each Boy.

White Shirts 5, Sleeping Dresses 3, Trowsers 6, Jackets 6, Flannel Banyans 3, Cloth Cap 1, Towels 4, Pillow Cases 2, Quilts 2, Blankets 3, and 3 Carpets for two Boys; Frocks for younger Boys 6.

For each Girl.

Frocks 5, Petticoats 3, Day Shifts 6, Night Shifts 2, Banyans 3, Caps 2, Pocket Handkerchiefs 4, Collars 2, Bathing Towels 5, Pillow Cases 2, Sheets 4, Blanket 1, and Carpet 1, Shoes 1 pair for each Child.

The School-hours are from 9 to 12 A.M., and from 2 to 4½ P.M.

Leave of absence can only be obtained by special application, through the Secretary—for Girls to the Ladies' Committee, and for Boys to the Managing Committee.

The Ladies' and Managing Committees meet respectively on the first and second Saturdays in every month.

Subscribers must apply for the admission of their Children either personally to the Committee, who meet monthly as stated above, or through their Commanding Officer.

The documents necessary to be produced are a certificate of the Child's age and baptism, and a nominal roll, according to the form specified, stating the date of the last receipt of Government allowance.

All payments will be collected by the Paymaster, and remitted to the Secretary regularly.

Those who desire to subscribe should signify their wish though the proper channel, to the Adjutant of their Corps, who will insert their names in the Monthly Returns of Subscribers to the Asylum.

The channels open to the Institution for establishing the Children respectively in life are both numerous and most advantageous:—

The Steam Engineer's Department.
The Medical Department.
Government Offices.
Schoolmasters.
Bands of Regiments.
Printing and other trades.
P. & O. Co.'s Dockyard.
Electric Telegraph.
Railway Department.

The following Scale of Charges for the Board and Education of Children has been fixed, in conformity with the usage of the Society in past years, for the future guidance of the Committee, to be departed from only in special cases, where inability to pay the required amount is satisfactorily proved :—

Rank and Situation of Parent or Guardian.	Charges to Subscribers.	Charges to Non-Subscribers.
	Per month.	Per month.
	Rs. a. p.	Rs. a. p.
Conductors, Apothecaries, and Stewards, or Staff Non-Commissioned Officers drawing equal allowances ..	5 0 0	10 0 0

Ditto 2nd child	1 0 0	1 4 0
Ditto each subsequent child.....	1 0 0	1 0 0
Pensioners on less than Private Soldier's pay	.....	1 0 0

The Children of widows, whose husbands never subscribed, to be also charged for as above, unless a donation of Rs. 100 for each child be paid down on its admission.

Step-children to be charged for and treated precisely as a man's own children, unless the step-child's own father subscribe, in which case the child would, of course, reap the benefit.

For Children of non-military persons, ten per-cent. to be charged on a person's income, when the full sum prescribed by Rule 48 cannot, in the opinion of the Committee, be paid. The illegitimate Children of Soldiers who have been regular Subscribers will be admitted on the further monthly payment of double the amount required for legitimate Children. Subscribers from the date of landing in India, who may take their discharge from the Army, will be permitted to continue their Subscriptions with a view to obtain the benefits of the Asylum for their Children on their own death ; but the Committee will determine, according to circumstances, what further monthly payment is to be made during the father's lifetime.

"Love is the fulfilling of the law," and must be made the bond of the whole family living in the Institution; or the Children will be neglected, and the comfort and happiness of the several servants marred and destroyed.

III. The Master has, under the Committee, full control and charge over every person in the Institution, and to his instructions, in the carrying out these rules, prompt obedience must be rendered by all the servants.

IV. The Master is not permitted to hire or discharge any servants of the Institution without the sanction of the Secretary.

3. He is to see all boys, not in the sick list, wash or bathe thoroughly every morning.

4. He is to attend during the hours of breakfast, dinner, and supper in the Mess-room, to preserve order and decency amongst the boys, and to see that they eat their food peaceably and regularly.

5. He is to be amongst the boys as much as possible during play-hours, to prevent the least immorality of word or action, every instance of which, and generally everything which transpires amongst the boys, and which he may deem of sufficient importance, he is, without delay, to report to the Master, who will order such punishment as he may deem suitable for any defaulter.

6. He is to see that the Teachers of Classes be responsible for the clothing of their own Classes to the Matron, and bring each his own Class in order to change clothing, and report to her what articles are missing or torn.

VII. 1. The Matron has sole charge of the clothing, and is required to keep such accounts thereof as the Committee may from time to time direct.

2. She is to see the old clothes carefully mended, and the Children kept clean and tidy.

3. She is always, when practicable, to be present at table during meals to watch over the little children, and to see them take their meals orderly; when she observes any weak or sickly, and disinclined to eat, she must report the same to the Apothecary without delay.

4. She is, conjointly with the Assistant, to see that the Mess-room and Shed are kept clean and in good order.

VIII. 1. The Nurse is immediately under the medical officer, and in charge of the sick.

2. She will attend with great punctuality to all the orders of the Surgeon.

3. She will see the sick washed and bathed at all times when required; she will attend them during their meal to preserve order, and will watch with tenderness over all committed to her care.

4. She will report to the Master any thing that may be wanted for the comfort or convenience of the sick.

5. She will see that such boys as are affected only by slight cutaneous diseases learn such lessons as the Master may direct, for which purpose he will supply a boy from the School, should he deem it necessary, to teach them.

6. She will attend at the Hospital at morning and evening Prayer, carefully observing that the boys, such as are able, are attentive and decent in their behaviour.

7. She will keep an account of all Hospital furniture, books, and clothing, which may from time to time be committed to her care.
